Hamilton Wins at Tennis.

On Wednesday last the Tennis Team defeated the representatives of Union by a score of 4 matches to 1. The tournament was held at the Mohawk Golf Club at Schenectady, on courts which were in excellent shape, making it a pleasure to play on them. The sets were all closely contested.

Richardson started out by handily defeating Vincent. He seemed to be playing in his old-time form and his consistent and steady lobbing bothered his opponent. Vincent's stroking was one of the features of the day.

Snow beat Mills, much to the surprise of his own supporters. He had come out for the team only the day before and, challenging one of the regular team, defeated him, took his place, and was the only man on the Union team to win his match.

Day easily beat Brooks, mainly by his clever net playing. By this time Sicard had arrived and his match with King was at once pulled off, Sicard winning easily. This left the score in the singles 3-1 in favor of the Hamilton men. The doubles were then played, Day and Sicard defeating King and Vincent. This match was of the most sensational order and was won largely by the Hamilton men's net play.

The team was royally entertained, and enjoyed the trip immensely. Manager Richardson tried to arrange a return match, to be played on the Campus the early part of June, but the Union exams coming on so soon will probably prevent another match this year.

The score in detail follows:

Sicard defeated King.....6-0, 6-4
Richardson defeated Vincent....6-3, 6-2
Day defeated Brooks.....6-3, 6-3
Snow defeated Mills.....6-2, 6-2
Sicard and Day defeated King and Vincent.....6-2, 6-3

Virginia and Georgetown have settled the trouble between them and are about to resume athletic relations.

We Lose to Syracuse.

The first game played by the baseball team on its western trip was against Syracuse, and we lost by a score of 6-2. The game was well played and honors were even till the sixth inning when a combination of ill-luck turned the tables. With two men on bases, Bramley tried to throw to Haggerson. The ball hit the bat in the batter's hands, bounded over Haggerson's head and let the runs in. This lead Syracuse maintained to the end.

The team showed ability to play the game off its own field, which is certainly encouraging. Haven pitched a steady game and was backed in good shape.

Yesterday the team played Hobart at Geneva, and today they tackle Rochester. We hope for better luck.

Syracuse Wins the Triangular.

Our showing in the three-cornered meet last Saturday at Syracuse was in a way disappointing, though not at all discouraging. We were in too fast company to hope to win. We knew that before we went. As has been our fortune for two or three years past, the combined strength of our opponents worsted us in events where we were easily better than one or other of them. Some of the men showed ability to do their best in competition, while others fell far below their practice marks. In fact, had the men in the weights, high jump and pole vault done themselves justice, our score would have been far larger.

Considering the weather conditions the performances on the track were very fast indeed. A cold, chill wind blew at the backs of the sprinters, but probably hindered as much as it helped their speed. This high wind made hard work for the distance runners and the time returned was exceptional in every race. The cold stiffened up the jumpers and weight men badly and put warm weather workers at a great disadvantage.

Castleman, as usual, was our Nemesis, taking his four firsts by brilliant work in the dashes and hurdles. Sicard easily qualified in the sprints, but failed by a foot of being placed in the hundred. In the 220 he ran well and was a good third. The time in these events, 10 seconds flat and 22 1-5 seconds shows the company we were in. The high hurdle was a spectacular race, Castleman and Robertson running neck and neck, with Sicard and Holley close up. At the eighth hurdle the Syracuse man fell and Sicard and Holley rushed into third places; time 15 4-5 seconds. In the low hurdles Roosa ran well, finishing a good third to Castleman and Robertson in 25 2-5 seconds.

Squires, Cox and Roosa ran away with the 440, crossing the line in that order in 53 seconds, very fast time under such conditions. Smith made a plucky fight for third in the two-mile run, but was unable to stand the terrific pace, Boyd winning with Burton close up. Time 10 minutes 18 seconds.

We should have had a piece of the pole vault but our candidates went to pieces and failed at nine feet. In the shot and hammer we suffered an entire reversal of form and missed points that had seemed certain. Carroll did well in the high jump by taking third from the Colgate contingent. Ferris, though not in his best form, succeeded in landing the broad jump at 20 feet 6 1-2 inches, our only first place.

There is every reason to expect that this competition with two such teams as Colgate and Syracuse, and the experience gained by running against such exceptional athletes, will give the men the necessary wherewithal to do better in the future. We can't have good teams unless they can work up against something a little better than their metal. Syracuse has a strong team with very few weak points. Such men as Squires, Boyd, Allen, Robertson and Davies are of the best. Colgate has Castleman. We hope for better things at the Intercollegiate next Tuesday, though rumors as to Rochester's strength are very vague and unreliable.

Sicard Elected Track Captain.

The track team picture was taken last Wednesday afternoon on the steps of Science Hall. The following were in the group:—Drummond, Manager; Roosa, Captain; Bramley, Carroll, Ferris, MacDonald, Grossmeyer, Bagg, Peck, Montgomery, Scoon, Meeker, Swetman, J. G. Clark, R. Sherman, Smith, Roseboom, H. K. Holley, MacLean, McCarthy, Hull and "Uncle John."

Immediately after the picture had been secured, the election was held. George Hallam Sicard was declared elected. The new captain has been a member of the team since Freshman year, when he ran the high hurdles. Last season and this, Captain-elect Sicard has been first string in the dashes and high hurdles, being the holder of the College record in the latter event at 16 2-3 seconds. He has likewise equalled the records in the sprints, running in 10 1-5 and 23 seconds, respectively. The College is unusually fortunate in having two such men as Roosa and Sicard to captain the track team in two successive years.

The Intercollegiate Tuesday.

On Decoration Day the Intercollegiate will be held in Rochester. Preparations have been made to gather a large crowd at Culver Field, and it is hoped the effort will be successful, for, as a rule, the trip to Rochester, in years past, has meant a complete financial loss. If this happens again this season the track management will be badly embarrassed. Throughout the season the loss of the St. Lawrence meet has been severely felt by both the management and team. The more we think about it, the more partial the action of the Faculty appears.

About fifteen men will be taken on the trip and there is a good chance of our making a good showing, though Rochester's strength is an unknown quantity. All the fellows who can possibly go with the team should do so. At Syracuse we needed more camp followers.

The "Job Lots" Victory.

Last Thursday afternoon the notorious "Job Lots" added another notch to their athletic hoe handle by submerging the Clinton High School baseball team. The game was not exactly well played, though it was very interesting and highly provocative of apoplectic outbursts of humor. The management had signed its usual number of stars and cabbage heads, and they did themselves infinite discredit.

The notorious elephantine twins, "Buster" Bloyer and "Beanut" Bennett were in the points for the winners, and put up a high-class and side-splitting vaudeville performance. Benedict claimed to hold down the initial sack, but seemed to spend most of his time chasing the horsehide behind the grandstand, or imbibing copious draughts from the side line growler tank. MacDonald at second earned the eternal hatred of the team by making several fairly decent stops. "Jim" Carroll on third looked good—but oh, my! Stryker, ex-captain of the "Job Lot" basketball team, tore up turf in fine style at short-stop and easily won the leather cup for perpetration of sensational errors and brilliant mis-plays. Be it said, however, that several of his errors were made in a commendable attempt to play the whole infield and to keep MacDonald's slate fairly clean.

Sicard, who stood around in left field, showed his ability to completely efface himself when the ball came his way. He displayed good judgment, however, in backing up the home plate while the other eight players vainly attempted to put out a Clinton base winner at third. It didn't do any good, but it looked immense. Hoyt and Driscoll capered about in the outfield and showed up well in coaching the other players. "Kink" Mann umpired with modesty and perfect impartiality, absolutely refusing to voice any decision that looked close, preferring to allow the teams to fight it out on their own hook. "Kink's" bearing was all that one could ask, though even from the side lines the pitiful palpitation of his nether limbs could be distinctly seen whenever the ball was put in motion. The team posed well at bat, but was so consistently shy-footed that hits were few and accidental. Both pitchers proved a puzzle to their opponents, and we believe, to themselves. There is still heated dispute over the score, but the victory is popularly awarded to the "Job Lots."

THE SUCCESSFUL MEET at Syracuse last Saturday has aroused considerable discussion among Syracuse men, especially the alumni, as to the advisability of reorganizing the old New York State Intercollegiate Association. This league, which existed in the late 80's and early 90's, was composed of Colgate, Hamilton, Rochester, Hobart, Union and Syracuse. During its lease of life the organization was highly successful, both athletically and financially.

In the great athletic purge and amateur awakening of the early 90's, however, the league dissolved because of misunderstanding in regard to eligibility rules. The men who are talking over the scheme believe that there would now be no disruption over unsatisfactory rules, and we agree with them.

Such a general meet of the state colleges would unquestionably be an event of interest in many ways, and not alone feasible, but advisable. Of course there are manifest obstacles, and difficult ones at that. But taking, for example, our own position, we believe that such a meet, despite our vastly lessened chance of winning, would be a great improvement over the present league. We are not strong for the N. Y. S. I. A. as it exists today. Football and baseball leagues and championships are very unsatisfactory, excepting, perhaps, a triangular organization. But the present half-alive, half-fossilized Union is rather a hindrance than a help. It has had its day and done its work—a great and a good work—but it has outgrown itself.

We do not claim that such an association as the Syracuse enthusiasts suggest should be strenuously boomed, but it is worth thinking over. We venture to prophesy that either our present Union must have an infusion of new blood, or it will disband and another, larger and more comprehensive, be formed. What's the difference? We must come to it anyway.

FOR SEVERAL YEARS we have been awaiting the appearance of the "Revised Constitution of the Athletic Association". Isn't it about time that the old gun which has been hanging fire so long should be primed? The last edition bears the date 1901. Since that year several important changes have been made and there are many others which would be both acceptable and beneficial to our athletics. We feel that a large per cent of the college will endorse our views, and in the following column may be found a few suggestions which have come directly from men interested in athletics.

The Syracuse-Colgate meet brought out the inadequacy of our Constitution in covering the requirements for a track H. The rule now reads that the H shall be worn only by men who have won a first in a dual meet, or one point in the intercollegiate, or have broken a college record. Even this rule has never appeared in the copy of the Constitution, which was placed before us in the days when the track H's went begging for two points won in any intercollegiate track meet. Would it not be much better to amend the Constitution in such a manner that any who wins two points in a triangular meet may wear the H also?

The Constitution also provides that the H must be of buff color. Of late this rule has never been enforced. Both our baseball and track teams are appearing with the blue H. Is it not perfectly proper? Surely blue is as much a Hamilton color as buff. It is unjust for the Constitution to specify buff as the necessary color for the letter.

Up to this date all classes have been allowed to decide for themselves the value of their numerals. The result has been that in some years the numerals have been worthless, in others they have stood for athletic ability. A system setting out in black and white the requirements for the wearing of numerals would greatly increase the athletic homogeneity of our classes.

Last but not least in this list comes the fact that the men eligible to vote for team captains and to appear in team pictures have never been decided upon. The men worthy of both honors have been left largely at the discretion of the captain. By far the best way out of this difficulty seems to be to rule that only men who have won their H that year, in that particular branch, shall be competent to vote for captain for the ensuing season. And that all men who have played in an inter-college game or taken part in an inter-college track meet shall appear in the picture.

We trust that the Advisory Board will consider these questions and suggestions at its earliest convenience, and we feel assured that the college will appreciate any steps taken in clearing up the mythical nature of the Constitution.

COMMERCIALISM IN ATHLETICS as treated in the June McClure's, is an highly interesting and instructive article, especially to college men and college athletics. It is an expose of conditions at the larger colleges and of the amateur status of prominent athletes. The writer speaks with authority. He must have made a careful analytic study of the back stairs gossip and inside corruption of amateur college athletics in general and of "stars" in particular. Every Hamilton man will take great satisfaction in a comparison of our athletics and those of other colleges.

IT IS THE EASIEST THING in the world to find fault. "Knock and the world knocks with you," is only too true. In college about the easiest thing to 'knock' is the management of some one of the athletic teams. As a general thing, we don't believe in it.

There have, however, been occasions when such a knock has been perfectly just, and two such have come to the notice of the college this year. The track management has had a hard enough time to make cash balance, with both meets away anyhow. It seems careless, to say the least, for the baseball management to schedule a Colgate game on Interscholastic Day, especially when its date was announced last October in the "Blue Book." That affair, however, is past and gone.

Far worse and much less excusable is the announcement that Cornell is to meet our tennis team in a match tournament, on our own Campus, on May 30th, the date for the Intercollegiate. Laying aside the fact that the captain of our team must be in Rochester on that date, and so give us a much greater task to win from Cornell, the lack of foresight is amazing. Everyone who can possibly go, should be with the track team. The tennis management must be sure of itself in a financial way, or it would never have dared to schedule a tournament on the date of a meet. It is needless to say anything about a lack of spirit, for college affairs. That speaks for itself. Of course we don't play entirely to win, but that ought to be a big part of it; and how can we, even the most optimistic of us, dare hope for a victory with Sicard in Rochester and Baxter ill.

We sincerely hope that this Cornell-Hamilton Tennis Tournament, which is a most excellent arrangement in itself, will be postponed to a date when the college has nothing else which rightly holds as a previous engagement.

The "Headquarters" Quarterly

The May Record appeared in Chapel on Thursday—"a good day for a good deed"—a truly spicy issue, written in Dr. Stryker's uniquely individual style. The first pages contain a gentle reminder of Commencement with its program and an eulogy on the beneficence of Andrew Carnegie. Then come some college notes with certain birth and death statistics, an article from the New York Independent on "Our Uneducated Specialists," a tribute to the late Gen. Hawley and Dr. Pomeroy, a Commencement Song in E, and a directory of living graduates. The number closes with more college and alumni notes among which the multiplicity of mentions of the inter-class debate leads us to believe that even "Headquarters" suffers from the same lack of copy which frequently embarrasses LIFE and the Lit. Taken as a whole the issue is most interesting and valuable. It's fine, However!

Nominations to the "Lit." Board

The following names will be presented to the College meeting today as the nominees to the Board of the Hamilton Literary Magazine: A. M. Drummond, '06; R. B. Peck, '07; C. M. Trippe, '07; D. H. Miller, '07. The vacating Board recommends these men to assist Kinney, Purdy and McLean in carrying on the work of the magazine for another year. As the Lit. is the official publication of the students, the College must vote upon these names before the choice is declared final.

College Notes.

—Baxter, ex-'08, will not return to college this spring.

—R. G. McGregor, of the class of '97, was on the Hill Monday.

—H. H. Harwood, '05, spent the early part of the week in Brooklyn.

—Day, Speh and Schwab tried the German prize examinations Friday.

—A rather small delegation accompanied the track team to Syracuse last Saturday.

—Roosa, '06, has gone home for a few days, but will return in time for the Intercollegiate.

—F. M. Barrows, '07, has been elected Vice-Principal of the Clinton High School for next year.

—The last regular Freshman chapel was held Wednesday. Next Wednesday will occur the Freshmen Prize Stab.

—Thursday the physics class received a cut from "Pills", who had to superintend his Dago class in its pipe-laying operations.

—"Bill" Squires and "Kink" Mann discuss the theory of mathematics in logic. "Kink" was good on theory but poor on the practice.

—The May Lit. expects to be out this month, but it begins to look as though the vacating Board will have to make a double number with the June issue of the new Board.

—"Billy" Watson in psychology class sagely remarks, that scientists are still looking for infinity, and that up to date it had not been found.

—When a student with a rather low standing handed a five dollar bill to "Nick", the latter informed the class that it was not a bribe.

—The Freshmen are making every possible effort to give a good Frolic and they ought to be supported by the presence of a large number from the other classes.

—The Freshmen Class voted last Wednesday to hold a track meet with the Colgate Freshmen on Saturday, June 3d. The meet will probably be held here.

—The baseball team left Thursday noon for a trip of three days. They played Syracuse on Thursday, Hobart yesterday, and this afternoon have a game with Rochester.

—Nominations for managers and assistant managers of baseball, basketball, track athletics, tennis, musical clubs and for the Lit. Board come up at college meeting today.

—The College may know positively by this time whether the "Job Lots" were drowned on their way to Waterville or not, but as we go to press it looks dubious for the poor cusses.

—The "Job Lots" journeyed to Waterville yesterday; "Lloyd Paul," on account of his position was not able to equal his record of nine errors in the Clinton High School game.

—The tickets for the Freshman Frolic are now on sale. The committee asks for a large advance sale to defray expenses. The Frolic will be held on the evening of June 7th, K. P. night.

—One day this week "Bill" Purdy had the good fortune to be the recipient of a bucket of water from one of the windows of Carnegie. The memory of unclassman days must have been vividly brought back to "Bill".

—Don't find fault with "Prex's" mailing list. Perhaps some of the alumni don't want to be found. If they don't owe money they are probably afraid they will be struck for a subscription to the Record or a new building.

—The Hamiltonian has been waiting some ten days now for the arrival of its colored frontispiece. No satisfaction is had from the engravers and the Board is in suicidal mood. Moral, do not do business with the Tuttle firm. Patronize home industry or change your residence.

—"Bill" Squires raised a laugh on Kinney by referring to him as a member of the baseball team. "Selt" was providentially absent.

—Clark and Kellogg of the Freshman class stand a good chance of solving correctly all of "Square's" triangles. There's only three more to be solved, but "Square" says "many a man has been plucked on the last one".

—By the number of men playing and the constant waiting list, it would seem that more tennis courts were needed. The fellows get little enough exercise as it is, and it seems a pity that tennis cannot be indulged in to a greater extent.

—Many of the Seniors will spend the greater part of their vacation on the Hill. With no classes most anyone could enjoy a week in such a place, especially after four years of the strenuous life. The contrast would be great.

—Prof. Davenport's new book which was discussed some time ago in these columns, is out and seems to be all that we expect. The Senior Greek class enjoyed readings from it the other day which were declared highly enjoyable as a substitute for Greek New Testament translation.

—The D. T. Club was entertained Wednesday evening by Messrs. Peck and J. G. Clark, in Carnegie. In the early part of the evening whist was enjoyed but when refreshments appeared cards became very unpopular. At a late hour the club adjourned, voting John and "Bob" jolly good hosts.

—The Campus subways are being rushed along under "Pill's" able direction. Why on earth can't all the college buildings be illuminated by electricity? Perhaps, we must wait till that bell tower arrives. Of course, the trouble will be that all the light will be switched off when the curfew tolls.

—The Intercollegiate track meet is being held on Franklin Field, Philadelphia today. On past performances the meet seems to lie between Yale, Pennsylvania, Cornell and Harvard. These teams are very evenly matched and the result will probably be in doubt until the last event is pulled off.

—The college will probably be relieved of one specimen of the Hebrew tribe, genus: "old clothesman". Tuesday afternoon Chief Hod Holley called out the brigade and the Israelite was given a much-needed bath. When last seen he was retreating over the brow of the hill muttering words that are best left unsaid.

—Tuesday evening several Freshmen received polite little notes from "Square" to the effect that they were below five in Trig. That's the right spirit, and the fellows who were unlucky enough to get them are glad that they know about their deficiency in time to make it up. If some poor fellow had known that he was on the brink he certainly would never have failed in that last fateful recitation in Greek, which pulled his mark a fraction of a point below five.

Among the Colleges.

Twenty-five botany students of the University of Chicago will make a tour of Ireland and Scotland next summer as an advance class in research. They will be gone about six weeks and will receive full credit for their work.

One half of one per cent. of the population of the United States is college bred. From this small number, 45 per cent. of Senators, 36 per cent. of Congressmen, 56 per cent. of Vice-presidents, 65 per cent. of Speakers of the House of Representatives, 83 per cent. of Supreme Court Justices and 70 per cent. of Presidents have been chosen.

By the statistics of George Eldred, statistician at Yale gymnasium, Amherst is given a ranking of fourteenth in track athletics among the colleges and universities of the country. Of twenty institutions named, Pennsylvania, Harvard, Yale and Princeton head the list, and Williams and Dartmouth are rated seventeenth and eighteenth respectively.

The advisory committee on athletics of Trinity College recently discovered that the track meet with Union last year was unfairly won by Trinity because of a man on the Trinity team who was not in college. This ringer won first place in the shot-put and a place in the broad jump, making the final record stand 57 to 52 in favor of Trinity. Although Union had made no protest, a representative was sent to Schenectady who personally, on behalf of the committee, apologized for the affair, stating that it had just been brought to their notice. He further stated that the banner would be returned to Union and the meet stricken entirely from the Trinity records.
